
Abrams Fensterman Co-Authors Book Designed Specifically for New York Doctors

Abrams Fensterman, LLP's Latest Initiative Aims to Help Doctors throughout New York State with Asset Protection, Tax Reduction, Practice and Financial Management

The Abrams Fensterman, LLP law firm has just co-authored one of the few books written specifically for New York physicians, dentists, chiropractors, podiatrists, veterinarians, and other licensed professionals. The other co-authors of the book are The Resnick Druckman Group and The OJM Group.

The 391-page book, entitled FOR NEW YORK DOCTORS: A Guide to Asset Protection, Tax Reduction, Practice & Financial Management, educates New York doctors on the best ways to structure their professional practices and personal affairs, reduce taxes and preserve their business and personal assets.

The book is unique in that it is based specifically on New York law and tax rules. Doctors can also be periodically updated on changes in the law and on new planning techniques by utilizing the website that is associated with the book.

For New York Doctors can be ordered through the Abrams Fensterman website or through the www.fornewyorkdoctors.com website. In coming weeks, it will also be downloadable as an e-book from the firm's website.

In addition to the book and website, all of the book's authors are available to lecture to medical groups, professional associations, and hospitals on topics of interest and offer CME credits in connection with the talks.
