
Howard Fensterman Op-Ed in January 2025 Long Island Press: Local Elections Matter

FEATURED ATTORNEY

Howard Fensterman

Managing Partner

In the January 2025 issue of the Long Island Press, our Managing Partner, Howard Fensterman, emphasizes the value of local elections in maintaining accountability and cooperation in governance. While national politics are often marked by partisanship, local elections on Long Island and in New York City have demonstrated the power of moderation, as seen in the victories of leaders like Nassau County Executive Bruce Blakeman and NYC Mayor Eric Adams.

Read the full Op-Ed, “Washington Should Learn from LI Voters, try Cooperation Instead of Confrontation” in the Long Island Press here.