Cannabis Industry Lawyers

In response to New York's passage of the Marijuana Regulation & Taxation Act (MRTA), which legalized adult-use cannabis and updated the regulation of medical cannabis and cannabinoid hemp (CBD), Abrams Fensterman launched the Cannabis Law Group, a suite of integrated legal services that efficiently and effectively address the myriad legal needs of the burgeoning medical marijuana industry.

Lead by a team of senior attorneys who, on their own, are of the most well regarded professionals in their respective fields, the Cannabis Law Group delivers a unique array of comprehensive, sophisticated and robust legal services that are increasingly important to those involved in the rapidly evolving cannabis industry.

Our experience in cannabis regulation, business formation, financing, mergers & acquisitions, investment fund formation, licensing, employment, healthcare regulation and civil/criminal litigation can be accessed individually or in unique combinations by clients who are directly involved or simply interfacing with various aspects of the cannabis industry.

The Cannabis Law Group is led by Michael Bass, Esq. and Richard Thomas, Esq.

Specifically, we counsel clients on a full range of cannabis related matters, including:

- Licensing
- Regulatory Compliance
- Hospital Risk Management, liability mitigation and quality control
