U.S. Stock Exchange and Market Listings

Choosing the right exchange on which to list your company's stock can be a key to realizing stockholder value. Trading eligibility may vary depending on assets, stockholders' equity, stock price, corporate governance compliance and other factors. The structure of the market, such as whether it is based on market makers or specialists, may also be a major factor. Our team of lawyers, with many years of experience, can aid you in making this crucial decision. With a detailed knowledge of the differences between the major exchanges and markets, our team will guide you through the process of getting and keeping your company listed on the exchange or market that best fits your needs.
